

LONG THE MILE

Sometimes it takes losing everything to find what you really need. When Judah went to prison for insider trading, he lost everything he thought was important: his business, his money, his power. But when he gets out, homelessness strips him of the one thing he has left: his self-respect. When another homeless man saves him from a beating, he begins to learn to rely on the goodness of those around him. For Toby, life on the streets has become familiar. Comfortable. So comfortable he wonders if he's given up...

Reader's Opinions

This is the kind of story that twisted my heart. Just what I expected from reading the blurb. As bitter and difficult to like Judah was, I could somehow understand his turmoil, his ruined self-confidence and how he wanted to feel deserving of Toby's love. Toby for me was an angel-like persona, almost too perfect a human being. That...
